DETAILED ACTION

Claims 27-32 are pending.

Claims 1-26 are cancelled.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

3. Claims 27-32 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Li et al. (U.S. PG-PUB NO. 2002/0119781) in view of Parantainen et al. (U.S. PATENT NO. 7,092,373) and further in view of Kage (U.S. PATENT NO. 5,463,672).

-Regarding claims 27 and 30, Li et al. disclose a base station comprising an allocation unit configured to allocate a resource to be used by a mobile station (upon receiving the feedback from a subscriber, the base station further selects one or more clusters for the subscriber among the candidates as disclosed in paragraph 43); a modulating unit configured to modulate first allocation information indicating the resource (Orthogonal Frequency Division Multiplexing (OFDM) is an efficient modulation scheme for signal transmission over frequency-selective channels as disclosed in paragraph 2); and a transmitting unit configured to transmit the modulated first allocation information (the base station notifies the subscriber about the cluster allocation through a downlink common control channel as disclosed in paragraph 44 and 81). However, Li et al. fail to specifically disclose the resource is to be used for transmitting an ACK/NACK signal in response to user data transmitted by the base station.

Parantainen et al. disclose the base station transmits information on the uplink channel to be used for acknowledgements as disclosed in fig. 4.

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skills in the art at the time of invention to modify allocated resource of Li et al. to be used for transmitting an ACK/NACK signal. One is motivated as such in order to make sure the data is successfully transmitted. However the combination fails to specifically disclose a second allocation information indicating a destination of the user data; and simultaneously transmit the first allocation information and the second allocation information.

Kage discloses each base station is constantly broadcasting the base station identifier on a control channel as disclosed in col. 5 lines 19-24.

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skills in the art at the time of invention to modify the base station to simultaneously transmit the cluster allocation and base station identifier through the control channel. One is motivated as such in order to accelerate the communication by reducing the number of transmissions.

-Regarding claims 28 and 31, the combination further discloses the resource comprises a subcarrier (Li et al., as shown in fig. 1A and further disclosed in paragraph 37).

-Regarding claims 29 and 32, although the combination does not specifically disclose an encoding unit configured to encode the first allocation information together with the second allocation information, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skills in the art at the time of invention to do so in order to simultaneously transmit the two information together in a control channel.

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 27-32 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

5. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP

§ 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
